

The study of the theory of liability presents various cases of tort (fault liability, liability for the action of things and vicarious liability) and special liability regimes established by recent legislation (liability for traffic accidents and products liability).

The system of obligations is then presented in a separate course (Third year)